4. Election of the President.
5. Constitution of the main committees and election of officers.
6. Election of Vice Presidents.
7. Notification by the Secretary General under Article 12, Paragraph 2, of the Charter.

(Article 12 of the Charter first states: "While the Security Council is exercising in respect of any dispute or situation the functions assigned to it in the present Charter, the General Assembly shall not make any recommendations with regard to that dispute or situation unless the Security Council so requests.")

8. Adoption of the agenda.
9. Opening of the general debate.

(At the beginning of each session of the Assembly, there is a general debate in which the heads of delegations express the views of their countries on problems in political, economic and other fields.)

10. Report of the Secretary General on the work of the organization.

(The report for the period from June 16, 1961, to June 15, 1962, deals with all aspects of United Nations activity.)

11. Report of the Security Council.
12. Report of the Economic and Social Council.

13. Report of the Trusteeship Council.

14. Report of the International Atomic Energy Agency.
15. Election of nonpermanent members of the Security Council.

(The Security Council consists of five permanent members—China, France, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States—and six nonpermanent members elected by the Assembly for two-year terms.

(The terms of Chile, Ireland and the United Arab Republic expire at the end of 1962.)

16. Election of six members of the Economic and Social Council.

(The present members of the Council are Australia, Brazil, Colombia, Denmark, El Salvador, Ethiopia, France, India, Italy, Japan, Jordan, Poland, Senegal, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States, Uruguay and Yugoslavia.)

(The six members whose terms of office expire at the end of this year are Brazil, Denmark, Japan, Poland, the Soviet Union and Britain.)

17. Election of one member of the Trusteeship Council.

(The composition of the Trusteeship Council on Jan. 1, 1962, was as follows: Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, China, France, India, New Zealand, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States.

(On July 1, 1962, upon the termination of the trusteeship agreement for Ruanda-Urundi, Belgium ceased to be a member of the Council.

(The terms of the two elected members—Bolivia and India—will expire at the end of the year.)

18. Appointment of the Secretary General of the United Nations.

(The late Secretary General, Dag Hammarskjöld, following his appointment on Sept. 26, 1957, began his second five-year term on April 10, 1958. Following his death on Sept. 18, 1961, the Security Council, at a closed meeting on Nov. 3, 1961, unanimously recommended to the Assembly that U Thant of Burma be appointed as Acting Secretary General of the United Nations for the unexpired portion of the term, ending on April 10, 1963.)

19. Appointment of the members of the Peace Observation Commission.

(The terms of the fourteen members of the commission—China, Czechoslovakia, France, Honduras, India, Iraq, Israel, New Zealand, Pakistan, Sweden, the Soviet Union, Britain, the United States and Uruguay—expire at the end of 1962.)

20. Admission of new members to the United Nations.

(Applications for membership in the United Nations by states which have achieved independence in 1962 will be considered by the Assembly at its seventeenth session.)

21. Report of the committee on arrangements for a conference for the purpose of reviewing the Charter.

(The committee is scheduled to meet before July, 1963.)

22. Report of the commission of investigation into the conditions and circumstances resulting in the tragic death of Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld and of members of the party accompanying him.

(This five-member commission was established by the General Assembly on Oct. 7, 1950, to "represent the United Nations in bringing about the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic government of all Korea" and to carry out other functions relating to relief and rehabilitation of Korea.

enteenth session. The item was proposed by Honduras on Dec 8, 1961.)

24. United Nations Year for International Cooperation.

(Under the terms of a draft resolution, the Assembly, "believing that sustained effort at cooperation and joint endeavors in all possible fields and exploration of more areas to that end through the United Nations and by all states will result in growing areas of cooperation among nations and in the world as a whole for peace and human welfare," was to designate the year 1963 as the United Nations Year for International Cooperation.)

25. The situation with regard to the implementation of the declaration on the granting of independence to colonial countries and peoples; report of the Special Committee established under General Assembly resolution 1541 (XVI) of Nov 27, 1961.

(The General Assembly, at its fifteenth session, solemnly proclaimed the necessity of bringing to a speedy and unconditional end colonialism in all forms and manifestations. To this end, it adopted a declaration on the granting of independence to colonial countries and peoples.

(Later, at its sixteenth session, the Assembly adopted a resolution establishing a Special Committee on Colonialism) "to make suggestions and recommendations on the progress and extent of the implementation of the declaration, and to report to the General Assembly at its seventeenth session.")

26. Question of convening a conference for the purpose of signing a convention on the prohibition of the use of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons; report of the Secretary General.

(The General Assembly declaration on the prohibition of the use of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons requested the Secretary General to consult the governments of member states on the possibility of convening a special conference to sign a convention on the prohibition of such weapons for war purposes. The Secretary General was also asked to report on the results of such consultation to the forthcoming session.)

27. International cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space; reports of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, the World Meteorological Organization and the International Telecommunication Union.

(Under this item, the Assembly will have before it the report of the 28-member Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

(The committee was assigned a number of tasks by the General Assembly in a resolution which expressed belief that "the United Nations should provide a focal point for international cooperation in the peaceful exploration and use of outer space.")

28. The Korean question; report of the United Nations Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea.

(The Assembly will consider the twelfth annual report of the United Nations Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea.

(The seven-member commission was established by the General Assembly on Oct. 7, 1950, to "represent the United Nations in bringing about the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic government of all Korea" and to carry out other functions relating to relief and rehabilitation of Korea.)

29. The situation in Angola; reports of the subcommittee.

(The subcommittee on Angola met in Congo (Leopoldville) from Aug. 18 to Aug. 24, 1962.

30. Report of the United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation.

(The Assembly will consider the second comprehensive report of the United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation—the first study of its kind since 1958.)

31. Report of the Commissioner General of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East.

(The agency, whose operations are financed by voluntary contributions, provides relief and other services to about 8 million Arab refugees from Palestine, now living in Jordan, the Gaza Strip, Lebanon and the Syrian Arab Republic.)

32. United Nations Emergency Force.

Assembly at the seventeenth session. The report will also be submitted to the Security Council.)

33. Economic and social consequences of disarmament; report of the Secretary General.

(In proclaiming the decade on Dec. 19, 1961, the Assembly asked the Secretary General to draw up specific measures and targets designed to bring about conditions in which the national income of less-developed countries will be increasing by 5 per cent yearly by 1970, with continued annual expansion thereafter.)

34. United Nations Development Decade; report of the Secretary General.

(The report deals with the High Commissioner's participation in work for the repatriation of Algerian refugees; progress in camp-clearance programs in Europe; resettlement of refugees of European origin from the Far East, and use of the High Commissioner's "good offices" to encourage contributions for aid to Chinese refugees in Hong Kong.)

35. Economic development of underdeveloped countries; report of the Secretary General.

(A draft resolution recommends that high priority be given to appropriations for expanding United Nations activities in the field of industrialization, including industrial advisory services, to meet the needs of developing countries.)

36. Long-term projections of world economic trends; progress report prepared by the Secretary General.

(The report deals with the Secretary General's report on the economic and social activities of the United Nations and strengthening of the regional economic commissions.)

37. Questions relating to international trade and commodities; report of the Secretary General.

(The report deals with the Secretary General's report on the international trade problems relating especially to primary commodity markets; report of the Secretary General.

38. International measures to assist in offsetting fluctuations in commodity prices.

(The Assembly will continue consideration of this item which was placed on last year's agenda on the initiative of Denmark and Sweden.)

39. Permanent sovereignty over natural resources.

(The General Assembly will have before it a proposed declaration on the right of peoples and nations to permanent sovereignty over their natural wealth and resources.)

40. Progress and operation of the Special Fund.

(At its seventeenth session the Assembly will have before it the annual report of the managing director of the Special Fund covering 1961 and report of the Governing Council covering sessions of the Council held during 1962.)

41. United Nations program of technical cooperation; report of the Secretary General.

(A report describing the United Nations' own technical assistance activities in 1961 describes the three-fold increase in aid to Africa, the shift from research and study to action and operation, and the increase in aid for the development of national resources.)

42. Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees; report of the High Commissioner.

(The report deals with the High Commissioner's participation in work for the repatriation of Algerian refugees; progress in camp-clearance programs in Europe; resettlement of refugees of European origin from the Far East, and use of the High Commissioner's "good offices" to encourage contributions for aid to Chinese refugees in Hong Kong.)

43. Question of the continuation of the Office of the High Commissioner.

44. Draft International Conventions on Human Rights.

(The Assembly's third committee will take up proposed articles relating to the rights of asylum and the rights of measures of enforcement of the rights enumerated in the covenant.)

45. Draft convention and draft recommendation on consent to marriage, minimum age of marriage and registration of marriages.

46. Draft convention on freedom of information.

47. Draft declaration on the right of asylum.

48. Draft declaration on freedom of information.

49. Manifestations of racial prejudice and national and religious intolerance.

(A draft resolution proposed for adoption by the General Assembly would have it invite governments, specialized agencies, non-governmental and private organizations to continue efforts to educate public opinion with a view to the eradication of racial prejudice and national and religious intolerance.)

50. Information from non-self-governing territories transmitted under Article 73e of the Charter of the United Nations; reports of the Secretary General and the Committee on Information from Non-Self-Governing Territories.

(Under Article 73e of the Charter, member states administering non-self-governing territories transmit annually to the Secretary General statistical and other information of a technical nature relating to economic, social and educational conditions in the territories they administer.)
